

PUBERTY

PUBERTAT

BY LETICIA DOLERA

The harmony of a community is shattered by an allegation of sexual assault on social media that points to three teenagers as the culprits. The adults in charge of those singled out, as aggressors and as victim, will have to deal with the tension of the situation and confront their own relationships with sexuality. In the process they will discover that perhaps it is not only traditions that are passed down from generation to generation, but also taboos and traumas.
