PET PEEVES

PETITS CALVARIS

BY JAVIER POLO

Welcome to the big city, to the wonderful world of obsessions. Today's society invites us to feed on behaviours in which our minds cling to a fixed and uncontrollable idea. There are fewer and fewer people who can escape this psychological spiral in which human relationships, health, money, order and hygiene are projected.

With the city as the ideal territory for the cultivation of the most pathological manias, and through five stories, we will treat obsession as a release, or as the only way to survive in society, while we listen to Pet Peeves, Conrado Garcia's radio programme.
