

STRANGE RIVER

ESTRANY RIU

BY JAUME CLARET MUXART

Dídac (15) travels by bicycle along the Danube with his family during a summer in Germany. As soon as the trip begins, he starts encountering a mysterious boy (18) who appears and disappears among the waters of the river. Dídac feels that something is changing within him. At the same time, his brother Biel (13), his inseparable companion, begins to sense how this situation is driving them apart, and their mother Mónica (40) sees herself in Dídac: she understands that it is now her son's turn to experience what she once lived through.
