MIRALLES

BY MARIA MAUTI

The Catalan architect Enric Miralles (1955-2000) is essential to Spanish and international contemporary and international architecture. He is also a complex character, powerful for his artistic and intellectual side, a hypnotic, polyhedral man with many contradictions. A personality that, over the course of time, has become impenetrable.

The documentary Miralles aims to portray the man and this complexity. A story built by variations-episodes, which through his architecture can compose an open and deep picture of his person and his creative process.

The story begins on the day of his departure.
