

TITO

BY JAVIER CELAY

In a small village, Filo, a pensioner with a low pension, has, as a source of income, a rental house where Tito and his family have been living for years. Tito has been living alone in the house for a year since his parents died. Tito, with serious mental problems, has not paid a single month's rent, which has led Filo to act out of desperation. A chance encounter at Jere's small bar will cause the tension to gradually escalate into a violent duel.
